

Peer Review of Milestone 1 for Aaron Chen

Quality of Work – Full Marks

I am giving Aaron full marks on this section because his readme file contained a good overview of his project. It talks about how he wants to create a connect four game. He doesn't know how far in the project he will get, but he wants to be able to play online against other players. He wants to be able to create lobbies and use databases to facilitate that. All the code that he has posted to GitLab is very organized and navigating his project page makes sense. He seems to have met all of his milestone 1 goals.

Intellectual Merit – Full Marks

I am giving Aaron full marks on intellectual merit because this seems like a project that has lots of complexity, but at the end of the semester he will definitely have a project that is in a state where it can be showed off and displayed to others. Aaron already has completed the game with a mix of JavaScript, HTML, and CSS. I feel like he is in a really good spot this far into the semester to start tackling the other goals he set out for.

Video – Full Marks

Aaron's video was very clear and did a good job of showing an overview of the project while also diving deeper and showing how some of the code works. In the video, he showed off what he has already completed, including a working game.
